

Is financial assistance available?

Yes, financial assistance is available. The CCIW and the Illinois Conference are offering generous subsidies for students to reduce the cost of attending the School for Ministry. A new minister can afford to take classes and will not have to travel to make each class.